

Prayer for Spiritual Communion

My Jesus, I believe that You are present in the Most Holy Sacrament. I love You above all things, and I desire to receive You into my soul. Since I cannot at this moment receive You sacramentally, come spiritually into my heart. I embrace You and unite myself wholly to You. Never permit me to be separated from You. Amen.

Dear Friends,

Today we begin Holy Week, the days during which we journey with Jesus on his way of the cross and anticipate his Resurrection on Easter.

The arc of Palm Sunday begins with the triumphant entry of Jesus into Jerusalem in the first gospel reading, but immediately after shifts to his passion and death. The transition is abrupt, but maybe something we can find parallel to our own lives. At one moment, it's easy to recognize the grandeur of God and his care for us, and in the next, we find ourselves unable to find God's presence anywhere at all. As we experience this "crucifixion," we can take consolation in knowing how this story ends – with the resurrection of Jesus on the third day.

As we enter the holiest of weeks, we pray that we may see the life that comes from the cross, even in the most difficult of situations. We also pray that we may have the competence to see the courage to act when we encounter that which is unjust.

Is there anywhere in your life where you can identify with the author of today's psalm, past or present? Where, if at all, have you been able to find God alongside you in this experience?

May You Find Peace & Hope this Holy Week ~ Rose
